

DR. LYMAN WHARTON DIES SUDDENLY

End Came in Depot, While He Was Buying Ticket to Reunion.

FUNERAL TO BE IN RICHMOND

Work at William and Mary Inspiration to Young Men of Virginia.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] WILLIAMSBURG, VA., May 30.—Dr. Lyman B. Wharton dropped dead suddenly in the depot here early this morning while purchasing a ticket for Richmond, where he was going to attend the Confederate reunion. Dr. Wharton was known and honored by nearly every person throughout this section, and his sudden death has cast a gloom over the entire town.

Funeral services will be held in the chapel of William and Mary College, in which institution he taught for many years, to-morrow morning at 9 o'clock, after which the body will be taken to Richmond and laid at rest beside the grave of his wife in Hollywood cemetery.

Dr. Wharton's life had been one of singular purity and influence to others, and one which might be held up as a model for any people.

His advice to young Americans has always been: "Fix in the mind high ideals, spiritual and intellectual, rather than material and ephemeral, and this creed he followed faithfully throughout his life."

Dr. Wharton was born in Liberty (now Bedford City), Va., February 23, 1831. His father was John Austin Wharton, a well-known lawyer of that section in early life, and later a minister.

Dr. Wharton received his early education at home from his mother, and in 1850 entered the University of Virginia. After graduating from this institution he taught for several years, then he entered the ministry, his first parish being in Charlotte county, where he served for five years. In 1861 he entered the Confederate army as chaplain of the Fifty-Ninth Virginia Regiment.

In 1870 he accepted a chair in William and Mary College, where he taught until 1881, when the college was closed. When the college was reopened again in 1888, he was made professor of Latin, Greek, German and French. Later he was relieved of a part of his heavy burden, but continued to teach Latin until last year, when he was compelled to give up his work on account of age. He was connected with the institution, however, until the time of his death, having organized a class in Sanskrit during the early part of the present session for the ministerial students.

Dr. Wharton was married in 1877 to Miss Pauline S. Taylor, of Richmond, Va., who died a few years ago, and is buried in Hollywood cemetery. Dr. Wharton was a member of the Masonic order, and was chaplain of his lodge. He was also a member of the famous Phi Beta Kappa society.

THORNTON AND GRANT DEFEND THEIR TITLES

NEW ORLEANS, LA., May 30.—At the Gulf States' championship tennis tournament to-day Thornton and Grant, of Atlanta, champions in the doubles, defended their titles in a challenge match against Logan and Phelps, of New Orleans.

Rain prevented the completion of the match after three sets had been played. The New Orleans team won the first two and Atlanta the last.

Esmond Phelps, by defeating Merrill Smith, of New Orleans, for the singles championship this morning, earned the right to meet Thornton, the present title-holder in the singles, and their match will be played to-morrow afternoon.

VIRGINIA LOSES HORNS.

Mississippi Division, T. P. A., Wins the Result of the contest between the T. P. A. on States for the Texas horns has been announced, and Mississippi won the honor. Mississippi is one of the smallest divisions in the association. Her percentage of gain was 55 per cent. Virginia was second with a gain of 34.60, with Pennsylvania third with 33 per cent. gain. Virginia's percentage increase is twice as large as the membership of the banner State.

Colonel Morrison Here. Colonel E. M. Morrison, of Smithfield, Va., colonel of the old Fifteenth Virginia Regiment, is the guest of his friend, General A. L. Phillips, at No. 1829 W. race. While here he will be glad to meet any members of his old company who may be in town.

High School Closed. GREEN BAY, VA., May 30.—The Leigh District High School here closed to-day. This is the first time the school has been a decided success. An entertainment had been arranged by principal and teachers, in which the scholars would participate, but owing to the fact of a number of cases of measles among the children this had to be abandoned.

Garage: 504-6-8-10 W. Broad. B. A. BLENNER. The Pioneer Automobile Dealer in Virginia. Agent in Virginia for the Incomparable White Steamer—The Car for Service.

High Touring Cars for Hire. Automobile Sundries, Tires and Supplies Always on Hand.

I have ten good second-hand Cars that I will sell at a sacrifice, to make room for my new Cars.

Model "H" White Touring Car

Some Features of the New 1907 White Steamers.

The White Car is in a class by itself, and has no equal. All roads look alike to the White. No limit to the life of a White Car. You will never be forced to eat dust in a '07 White. The White Car always gets there and returns. It is a safe car, and a pleasure for women to drive. You own the road in a White Car. There is no car on the market to approach it, no matter what price or power.

It is noiseless, odorless, free from vibration, flexible, reliable, easiest on tires and easiest to drive. If a man wants more for his money he must seek it in another world.

I can make immediate delivery on the following new 1907 cars: Models G. & H. White Steamer, Royal Tourist, Peerless, Packard, Stevens Durea, American Roadster, Premier, Dragon, Detroit and Reo.

DEMONSTRATIONS GIVEN BY APPOINTMENT.

Phone 4319.

Model "H" White Touring Car

Model "H" White Touring Car

Model "H" White Touring Car

June Jaunts

are rendered doubly enjoyable by jaunty clothes to make you feel "fit as a fiddle."

Bring us your dress worries. We'll smooth the creases from your forehead and put none on your back. Just can't keep mum about our Blue Serge Suits. We've squeezed out every ounce of needless weight and squeezed in every ounce of style and good looks—$12 to $25.

Jacobs & Levy

abandoned. Quite a number of prominent speakers were on hand, however, and addresses were made by Mr. R. C. Stearns, secretary of the State Board of Education of Virginia; Prof. J. H. Davis, superintendent of schools of Prince Edward county; Mr. Robert K. Brock, Jr., a prominent attorney of Prince Edward; Mr. L. D. Jones, chairman of the school, and others.

Find Suit-Case. A suit-case, marked Barrack, Alfonso, Va., was picked up on the street Wednesday night by a police officer and was taken to the First Police Station. The owner may recover it upon identification.

OBITUARY.

Mrs. C. T. Franck.

Mrs. Cornelia Thornton Franck, wife of Mr. Andrew J. Franck, died yesterday morning at 10 o'clock. Besides her husband, she leaves four children. The funeral will be held from the residence, in Henrico county, at 4:30 o'clock this afternoon.

Joseph Hutchison. Mr. Joseph Hutchison died at his residence, No. 229 South Harrison Street, in the eighty-first year of his age. The funeral will be conducted at the grave, in the family burying-ground, Henrico county.

Salisbury, N. C., May 30.—Mr. Joseph McKenize, aged thirty-four years, a well-known young man in Salisbury and Rowan county, died at Scotland, near Norfolk yesterday, and his remains were brought to this city to-day for interment. He was widely known and prominently connected here, where he was reared. He leaves a widow and four sisters besides scores of more distant relatives. He had been critically ill for two months.

Theodore Jones. FREDERICKSBURG, VA., May 30.—Theodore Jones, a well-known Confederate veteran of Caroline county, is dead, after a brief illness, aged sixty-five years. He is survived by his wife and five children.

Jordan Webb. GLADESBORO, VA., May 30.—Mr. Jordan Webb, a respected citizen, living near this place, died yesterday.

DEATHS.

FRANCK.—Died, May 30th, at 10 A. M. CORNELIA THORNTON, wife of Andrew J. Franck. She leaves four children and her husband. Funeral will take place at the residence, in Henrico county, at 4:30 o'clock FRIDAY, May 31st. Friends are invited to attend.

HUTCHISON.—Died, at his residence, No. 229 South Harrison Street, WM. JOSEPH HUTCHISON, in the eighty-first year of his age. Funeral will be conducted at the grave, in the family burying-ground, Henrico county.

WHARTON.—Died suddenly Thursday morning, May 30th, at Williamsburg, Va., Rev. L. B. WHARTON. Funeral from the residence of his sister, Mrs. L. A. Adair, 215 South Third Street, FRIDAY, May 31st, 4:30 o'clock.

IN MEMORIAM.

Dearest husband, thou hast left us; We thy loss most deeply feel; But 'tis God who has bereft us; He can all of our sorrows heal.

We miss you through the long, weary hours; We miss you as others miss sunshine and flowers. Daytime or nighttime, wherever we go, Dearest papa, we miss you so.

By His WIFE AND CHILDREN.

MANY INJURED IN STREET-CAR CRASH

Holiday Passengers Thrown Into Panic, and Two Are Killed.

SEVERAL OTHERS MAY DIE

Hit by Trailing Car With Platform Crowded With Men and Women.

ELYRIA, O., May 30.—Crowded with holiday passengers, a Cleveland and Southwestern trolley car, running from Wellington to Cleveland, was struck by a car coming up from behind at the corner of Sixth Street and Middle Ave. resulting in at least two deaths and eleven persons being injured. Two of those injured it is thought will die.

The dead: H. M. Billings, aged sixty-five, of Elyria; W. E. Allen, aged sixty-six, of Elyria, claim agent of the Lake Shore Railroad.

The fatally injured: Donald Seia, aged five. The wrecked car had slowed down at Fifth and Middle Streets to allow passengers to get off. The rear platform was crowded with passengers, and while waiting for the passengers to alight, a car which was trailing crashed into the first car, crushing those on the rear platform and injuring several others.

PANIC ON CAR WHEN TRAIN WAS DERAILED.

NEW YORK, May 30.—Several persons were injured when a Long Island Railroad train was derailed at the Belmont Park Race-track Station this afternoon. None of the injured was fatally hurt. The train was drawing in at the race-track station when the forward trucks of the third car jumped the track and the car crashed into the platform. Men and women ran screaming from the entrances and tumbled out in heaps on the ground. Only the fact that the train was moving slowly at the time prevented many more being seriously injured.

BRYAN WOULD NOT NOMINATE DANIEL

(Continued from First Page.)

ownership of railroads, but said that after all he would do more was not to be gained for the people by discussing and fighting the corporations.

What the Rate Law Did.

Continuing, Mr. Bryan said: "What is the effect of our new rate law which was so hard to get? There are two effects so far. One thing, it stopped rebates; that is good, but what was the pecuniary effect? Why, the railroads kept the money they paid to the favored shippers, and many of the railroads get more money out of this. What was the other effect? It stopped passes. What did that do? It gave to the railroads the money that the fellows used to save that rode on passes. So far we have increased the revenues of the railroads, and that is what that law has done thus far; and when the various States said: 'Well, now, we have given you this advantage by stopping rebates and passes we will reduce passenger rates and make you divide with the people,' and in some of the States they have reduced the passenger rates, the railroads in some cases are so ungrateful for what has been given them that they go into the court to try to keep the people from having the benefit of the two-cent rate law."

Struggle of the People.

"All over this land we have seen this struggle between the people and the corporations, and we see it in the country to-day on the railroad question. In 1896 the Democratic platform declared for railroad regulation."

"It did so in 1900; it did so in 1904, but, my friends, after ten years of effort on our part, we have to go a Republican President to take the lead on the subject, and then he had the fight of his life to get his bill through the Senate or House. At last, in order to make it a Republican measure, the President was forced to compromise with representatives of the railroads in the United States Senate. I think, my friends, if I am allowed to talk on taxation I ought not to forget the taxation this country is bearing to-day, because we do not regulate the corporations as we ought to regulate them. When I live a man who is content with talking against government ownership of railroads, I believe he is doing it from his own interests."

Government Ownership. "Well, we have not reached that question, but we have reached the question of the railroad management, and I have some times felt tempted to suggest that the man who spends his time talking about the government ownership of railroads could better spend his time in protecting the masses from the greed of corporations of today."

Mr. Bryan expressed his appreciation of the kind things that had been said about him in his introduction, and said he was proud to be the son of a Virginian.

"I know there is no distinction," he said, "equal to being a son of Virginia, but a grandson comes next to it."

Bryan on Senator Daniel. Referring to Mr. Lassiter's reference to Senator Daniel for the presidency, Mr. Bryan said: "I don't know whether my good friend expected me to use this occasion to join in the nomination of the candidate for President or not. I will say this, that I join with him in the admiration he has expressed for Virginia's great son and statesman. And I have said time and again that sections should not control the selections of our candidates. In fact, two years and a half ago, at a local meeting, I said that I would join with him in the admiration he has expressed for Virginia's great son and statesman. And I have said time and again that sections should not control the selections of our candidates. In fact, two years and a half ago, at a local meeting, I said that I would join with him in the admiration he has expressed for Virginia's great son and statesman. And I have said time and again that sections should not control the selections of our candidates. In fact, two years and a half ago, at a local meeting, I said that I would join with him in the admiration he has expressed for Virginia's great son and statesman. And I have said time and again that sections should not control the selections of our candidates. In fact, two years and a half ago, at a local meeting, I said that I would join with him in the admiration he has expressed for Virginia's great son and statesman. And I have said time and again that sections should not control the selections of our candidates. In fact, two years and a half ago, at a local meeting, I said that I would join with him in the admiration he has expressed for Virginia's great son and statesman. And I have said time and again that sections should not control the selections of our candidates. In fact, two years and a half ago, at a local meeting, I said that I would join with him in the admiration he has expressed for Virginia's great son and statesman. And I have said time and again that sections should not control the selections of our candidates. In fact, two years and a half ago, at a local meeting, I said that I would join with him in the admiration he has expressed for Virginia's great son and statesman. And I have said time and again that sections should not control the selections of our candidates. In fact, two years and a half ago, at a local meeting, I said that I would join with him in the admiration he has expressed for Virginia's great son and statesman. And I have said time and again that sections should not control the selections of our candidates. In fact, two years and a half ago, at a local meeting, I said that I would join with him in the admiration he has expressed for Virginia's great son and statesman. And I have said time and again that sections should not control the selections of our candidates. In fact, two years and a half ago, at a local meeting, I said that I would join with him in the admiration he has expressed for Virginia's great son and statesman. And I have said time and again that sections should not control the selections of our candidates. In fact, two years and a half ago, at a local meeting, I said that I would join with him in the admiration he has expressed for Virginia's great son and statesman. And I have said time and again that sections should not control the selections of our candidates. In fact, two years and a half ago, at a local meeting, I said that I would join with him in the admiration he has expressed for Virginia's great son and statesman. And I have said time and again that sections should not control the selections of our candidates. In fact, two years and a half ago, at a local meeting, I said that I would join with him in the admiration he has expressed for Virginia's great son and statesman. And I have said time and again that sections should not control the selections of our candidates. In fact, two years and a half ago, at a local meeting, I said that I would join with him in the admiration he has expressed for Virginia's great son and statesman. And I have said time and again that sections should not control the selections of our candidates. In fact, two years and a half ago, at a local meeting, I said that I would join with him in the admiration he has expressed for Virginia's great son and statesman. And I have said time and again that sections should not control the selections of our candidates. In fact, two years and a half ago, at a local meeting, I said that I would join with him in the admiration he has expressed for Virginia's great son and statesman. And I have said time and again that sections should not control the selections of our candidates. In fact, two years and a half ago, at a local meeting, I said that I would join with him in the admiration he has expressed for Virginia's great son and statesman. And I have said time and again that sections should not control the selections of our candidates. In fact, two years and a half ago, at a local meeting, I said that I would join with him in the admiration he has expressed for Virginia's great son and statesman. And I have said time and again that sections should not control the selections of our candidates. In fact, two years and a half ago, at a local meeting, I said that I would join with him in the admiration he has expressed for Virginia's great son and statesman. And I have said time and again that sections should not control the selections of our candidates. In fact, two years and a half ago, at a local meeting, I said that I would join with him in the admiration he has expressed for Virginia's great son and statesman. And I have said time and again that sections should not control the selections of our candidates. In fact, two years and a half ago, at a local meeting, I said that I would join with him in the admiration he has expressed for Virginia's great son and statesman. And I have said time and again that sections should not control the selections of our candidates. In fact, two years and a half ago, at a local meeting, I said that I would join with him in the admiration he has expressed for Virginia's great son and statesman. And I have said time and again that sections should not control the selections of our candidates. In fact, two years and a half ago, at a local meeting, I said that I would join with him in the admiration he has expressed for Virginia's great son and statesman. And I have said time and again that sections should not control the selections of our candidates. In fact, two years and a half ago, at a local meeting, I said that I would join with him in the admiration he has expressed for Virginia's great son and statesman. And I have said time and again that sections should not control the selections of our candidates. In fact, two years and a half ago, at a local meeting, I said that I would join with him in the admiration he has expressed for Virginia's great son and statesman. And I have said time and again that sections should not control the selections of our candidates. In fact, two years and a half ago, at a local meeting, I said that I would join with him in the admiration he has expressed for Virginia's great son and statesman. And I have said time and again that sections should not control the selections of our candidates. In fact, two years and a half ago, at a local meeting, I said that I would join with him in the admiration he has expressed for Virginia's great son and statesman. And I have said time and again that sections should not control the selections of our candidates. In fact, two years and a half ago, at a local meeting, I said that I would join with him in the admiration he has expressed for Virginia's great son and statesman. And I have said time and again that sections should not control the selections of our candidates. In fact, two years and a half ago, at a local meeting, I said that I would join with him in the admiration he has expressed for Virginia's great son and statesman. And I have said time and again that sections should not control the selections of our candidates. In fact, two years and a half ago, at a local meeting, I said that I would join with him in the admiration he has expressed for Virginia's great son and statesman. And I have said time and again that sections should not control the selections of our candidates. In fact, two years and a half ago, at a local meeting, I said that I would join with him in the admiration he has expressed for Virginia's great son and statesman. And I have said time and again that sections should not control the selections of our candidates. In fact, two years and a half ago, at a local meeting, I said that I would join with him in the admiration he has expressed for Virginia's great son and statesman. And I have said time and again that sections should not control the selections of our candidates. In fact, two years and a half ago, at a local meeting, I said that I would join with him in the admiration he has expressed for Virginia's great son and statesman. And I have said time and again that sections should not control the selections of our candidates. In fact, two years and a half ago, at a local meeting, I said that I would join with him in the admiration he has expressed for Virginia's great son and statesman. And I have said time and again that sections should not control the selections of our candidates. In fact, two years and a half ago, at a local meeting, I said that I would join with him in the admiration he has expressed for Virginia's great son and statesman. And I have said time and again that sections should not control the selections of our candidates. In fact, two years and a half ago, at a local meeting, I said that I would join with him in the admiration he has expressed for Virginia's great son and statesman. And I have said time and again that sections should not control the selections of our candidates. In fact, two years and a half ago, at a local meeting, I said that I would join with him in the admiration he has expressed for Virginia's great son and statesman. And I have said time and again that sections should not control the selections of our candidates. In fact, two years and a half ago, at a local meeting, I said that I would join with him in the admiration he has expressed for Virginia's great son and statesman. And I have said time and again that sections should not control the selections of our candidates. In fact, two years and a half ago, at a local meeting, I said that I would join with him in the admiration he has expressed for Virginia's great son and statesman. And I have said time and again that sections should not control the selections of our candidates. In fact, two years and a half ago, at a local meeting, I said that I would join with him in the admiration he has expressed for Virginia's great son and statesman. And I have said time and again that sections should not control the selections of our candidates. In fact, two years and a half ago, at a local meeting, I said that I would join with him in the admiration he has expressed for Virginia's great son and statesman. And I have said time and again that sections should not control the selections of our candidates. In fact, two years and a half ago, at a local meeting, I said that I would join with him in the admiration he has expressed for Virginia's great son and statesman. And I have said time and again that sections should not control the selections of our candidates. In fact, two years and a half ago, at a local meeting, I said that I would join with him in the admiration he has expressed for Virginia's great son and statesman. And I have said time and again that sections should not control the selections of our candidates. In fact, two years and a half ago, at a local meeting, I said that I would join with him in the admiration he has expressed for Virginia's great son and statesman. And I have said time and again that sections should not control the selections of our candidates. In fact, two years and a half ago, at a local meeting, I said that I would join with him in the admiration he has expressed for Virginia's great son and statesman. And I have said time and again that sections should not control the selections of our candidates. In fact, two years and a half ago, at a local meeting, I said that I would join with him in the admiration he has expressed for Virginia's great son and statesman. And I have said time and again that sections should not control the selections of our candidates. In fact, two years and a half ago, at a local meeting, I said that I would join with him in the admiration he has expressed for Virginia's great son and statesman. And I have said time and again that sections should not control the selections of our candidates. In fact, two years and a half ago, at a local meeting, I said that I would join with him in the admiration he has expressed for Virginia's great son and statesman. And I have said time and again that sections should not control the selections of our candidates. In fact, two years and a half ago, at a local meeting, I said that I would join with him in the admiration he has expressed for Virginia's great son and statesman. And I have said time and again that sections should not control the selections of our candidates. In fact, two years and a half ago, at a local meeting, I said that I would join with him in the admiration he has expressed for Virginia's great son and statesman. And I have said time and again that sections should not control the selections of our candidates. In fact, two years and a half ago, at a local meeting, I said that I would join with him in the admiration he has expressed for Virginia's great son and statesman. And I have said time and again that sections should not control the selections of our candidates. In fact, two years and a half ago, at a local meeting, I said that I would join with him in the admiration he has expressed for Virginia's great son and statesman. And I have said time and again that sections should not control the selections of our candidates. In fact, two years and a half ago, at a local meeting, I said that I would join with him in the admiration he has expressed for Virginia's great son and statesman. And I have said time and again that sections should not control the selections of our candidates. In fact, two years and a half ago, at a local meeting, I said that I would join with him in the admiration he has expressed for Virginia's great son and statesman. And I have said time and again that sections should not control the selections of our candidates. In fact, two years and a half ago, at a local meeting, I said that I would join with him in the admiration he has expressed for Virginia's great son and statesman. And I have said time and again that sections should not control the selections of our candidates. In fact, two years and a half ago, at a local meeting, I said that I would join with him in the admiration he has expressed for Virginia's great son and statesman. And I have said time and again that sections should not control the selections of our candidates. In fact, two years and a half ago, at a local meeting, I said that I would join with him in the admiration he has expressed for Virginia's great son and statesman. And I have said time and again that sections should not control the selections of our candidates. In fact, two years and a half ago, at a local meeting, I said that I would join with him in the admiration he has expressed for Virginia's great son and statesman. And I have said time and again that sections should not control the selections of our candidates. In fact, two years and a half ago, at a local meeting, I said that I would join with him in the admiration he has expressed for Virginia's great son and statesman. And I have said time and again that sections should not control the selections of our candidates. In fact, two years and a half ago, at a local meeting, I said that I would join with him in the admiration he has expressed for Virginia's great son and statesman. And I have said time and again that sections should not control the selections of our candidates. In fact, two years and a half ago, at a local meeting, I said that I would join with him in the admiration he has expressed for Virginia's great son and statesman. And I have said time and again that sections should not control the selections of our candidates. In fact, two years and a half ago, at a local meeting, I said that I would join with him in the admiration he has expressed for Virginia's great son and statesman. And I have said time and again that sections should not control the selections of our candidates. In fact, two years and a half ago, at a local meeting, I said that I would join with him in the admiration he has expressed for Virginia's great son and statesman. And I have said time and again that sections should not control the selections of our candidates. In fact, two years and a half ago, at a local meeting, I said that I would join with him in the admiration he has expressed for Virginia's great son and statesman. And I have said time and again that sections should not control the selections of our candidates. In fact, two years and a half ago, at a local meeting, I said that I would join with him in the admiration he has expressed for Virginia's great son and statesman. And I have said time and again that sections should not control the selections of our candidates. In fact, two years and a half ago, at a local meeting, I said that I would join with him in the admiration he has expressed for Virginia's great son and statesman. And I have said time and again that sections should not control the selections of our candidates. In fact, two years and a half ago, at a local meeting, I said that I would join with him in the admiration he has expressed for Virginia's great son and statesman. And I have said time and again that sections should not control the selections of our candidates. In fact, two years and a half ago, at a local meeting, I said that I would join with him in the admiration he has expressed for Virginia's great son and statesman. And I have said time and again that sections should not control the selections of our candidates. In fact, two years and a half ago, at a local meeting, I said that I would join with him in the admiration he has expressed for Virginia's great son and statesman. And I have said time and again that sections should not control the selections of our candidates. In fact, two years and a half ago, at a local meeting, I said that I would join with him in the admiration he has expressed for Virginia's great son and statesman. And I have said time and again that sections should not control the selections of our candidates. In fact, two years and a half ago, at a local meeting, I said that I would join with him in the admiration he has expressed for Virginia's great son and statesman. And I have said time and again that sections should not control the selections of our candidates. In fact, two years and a half ago, at a local meeting, I said that I would join with him in the admiration he has expressed for Virginia's great son and statesman. And I have said time and again that sections should not control the selections of our candidates. In fact, two years and a half ago, at a local meeting, I said that I would join with him in the admiration he has expressed for Virginia's great son and statesman. And I have said time and again that sections should not control the selections of our candidates. In fact, two years and a half ago, at a local meeting, I said that I would join with him in the admiration he has expressed for Virginia's great son and statesman. And I have said time and again that sections should not control the selections of our candidates. In fact, two years and a half ago, at a local meeting, I said that I would join with him in the admiration he has expressed for Virginia's great son and statesman. And I have said time and again that sections should not control the selections of our candidates. In fact, two years and a half ago, at a local meeting, I said that I would join with him in the admiration he has expressed for Virginia's great son and statesman. And I have said time and again that sections should not control the selections of our candidates. In fact, two years and a half ago, at a local meeting, I said that I would join with him in the admiration he has expressed for Virginia's great son and statesman. And I have said time and again that sections should not control the selections of our candidates. In fact, two years and a half ago, at a local meeting, I said that I would join with him in the admiration he has expressed for Virginia's great son and statesman. And I have said time and again that sections should not control the selections of our candidates. In fact, two years and a half ago, at a local meeting, I said that I would join with him in the admiration he has expressed for Virginia's great son and statesman. And I have said time and again that sections should not control the selections of our candidates. In fact, two years and a half ago, at a local meeting, I said that I would join with him in the admiration he has expressed for Virginia's great son and statesman. And I have said time and again that sections should not control the selections of our candidates. In fact, two years and a half ago, at a local meeting, I said that I would join with him in the admiration he has expressed for Virginia's great son and statesman. And I have said time and again that sections should not control the selections of our candidates. In fact, two years and a half ago, at a local meeting, I said that I would join with him in the admiration he has expressed for Virginia's great son and statesman. And I have said time and again that sections should not control the selections of our candidates. In fact, two years and a half ago, at a local meeting, I said that I would join with him in the admiration he has expressed for Virginia's great son and statesman. And I have said time and again that sections should not control the selections of our candidates. In fact, two years and a half ago, at a local meeting, I said that I would join with him in the admiration he has expressed for Virginia's great son and statesman. And I have said time and again that sections should not control the selections of our candidates. In fact, two years and a half ago, at a local meeting, I said that I would join with him in the admiration he has expressed for Virginia's great son and statesman. And I have said time and again that sections should not control the selections of our candidates. In fact, two years and a half ago, at a local meeting, I said that I would join with him in the admiration he has expressed for Virginia's great son and statesman. And I have said time and again that sections should not control the selections of our candidates. In fact, two years and a half ago, at a local meeting, I said that I would join with him in the admiration he has expressed for Virginia's great son and statesman. And I have said time and again that sections should not control the selections of our candidates. In fact, two years and a half ago, at a local meeting, I said that I would join with him in the admiration he has expressed for Virginia's great son and statesman. And I have said time and again that sections should not control the selections of our candidates. In fact, two years and a half ago, at a local meeting, I said that I would join with him in the admiration he has expressed for Virginia's great son and statesman. And I have said time and again that sections should not control the selections of our candidates. In fact, two years and a half ago, at a local meeting, I said that I would join with him in the admiration he has expressed for Virginia's great son and statesman. And I have said time and again that sections should not control the selections of our candidates. In fact, two years and a half ago, at a local meeting, I said that I would join with him in the admiration he has expressed for Virginia's great son and statesman. And I have said time and again that sections should not control the selections of our candidates. In fact, two years and a half ago, at a local meeting, I said that I would join with him in the admiration he has expressed for Virginia's great son and statesman. And I have said time and again that sections should not control the selections of our candidates. In fact, two years and a half ago, at a local meeting, I said that I would join with him in the admiration he has expressed for Virginia's great son and statesman. And I have said time and again that sections should not control the selections of our candidates. In fact, two years and a half ago, at a local meeting, I said that I would join with him in the admiration he has expressed for Virginia's great son and statesman. And I have said time and again that sections should not control the selections of our candidates. In fact, two years and a half ago, at a local meeting, I said that I would join with him in the admiration he has expressed for Virginia's great son and statesman. And I have said time and again that sections should not control the selections of our candidates. In fact, two years and a half ago, at a local meeting, I said that I would join with him in the admiration he has expressed for Virginia's great son and statesman. And I have said time and again that sections should not control the selections of our candidates. In fact, two years and a half ago, at a local meeting, I said that I would join with him in the admiration he has expressed for Virginia's great son and statesman. And I have said time and again that sections should not control the selections of our candidates. In fact, two years and a half ago, at a local meeting, I said that I would join with him in the admiration he has expressed for Virginia's great son and statesman. And I have said time and again that sections should not control the selections of our candidates. In fact, two years and a half ago, at a local meeting, I said that I would join with him in the admiration he has expressed for Virginia's great son and statesman. And I have said time and again that sections should not control the selections of our candidates. In fact, two years and a half ago, at a local meeting, I said that I would join with him in the admiration he has expressed for Virginia's great son and statesman. And I have said time and again that sections should not control the selections of our candidates. In fact, two years and a half ago, at a local meeting, I said that I would join with him in the admiration he has expressed for Virginia's great son and statesman. And I have said time and again that sections should not control the selections of our candidates. In fact, two years and a half ago, at a local meeting, I said that I would join with him in the admiration he has expressed for Virginia's great son and statesman. And I have said time and again that sections should not control the selections of our candidates. In fact, two years and a half ago, at a local meeting, I said that I would join with him in the admiration he has expressed for Virginia's great son and statesman. And I have said time and again that sections should not control the selections of our candidates. In fact, two years and a half ago, at a local meeting, I said that I would join with him in the admiration he has expressed for Virginia's great son and statesman. And I have said time and again that sections should not control the selections of our candidates. In fact, two years and a half ago, at a local meeting, I said that I would join with him in the admiration he has expressed for Virginia's great son and statesman. And I have said time and again that sections should not control the selections of our candidates. In fact, two years and a half ago, at a local meeting, I said that I would join with him in the admiration he has expressed for Virginia's great son and statesman. And I have said time and again that sections should not control the selections of our candidates. In fact, two years and a half ago, at a local meeting, I said that I would join with him in the admiration he has expressed for Virginia's great son and statesman. And I have said time and again that sections should not control the selections of our candidates. In fact, two years and a half ago, at a local meeting, I said that I would join with him in the admiration he has expressed for Virginia's great son and statesman. And I have said time and again that sections should not control the selections of our candidates. In fact, two years and a half ago, at a local meeting, I said that I would join with him in the admiration he has expressed for Virginia's great son and statesman. And I have said time and again that sections should not control the selections of our candidates. In fact, two years and a half ago, at a local meeting, I said that I would join with him in the admiration he has expressed for Virginia's great son and statesman. And I have said time and again that sections should not control the selections of our candidates. In fact, two years and a half ago, at a local meeting, I said that I would join with him in the admiration he has expressed for Virginia's great son and statesman. And I have said time and again that sections should not control the selections of our candidates. In fact, two years and a half ago, at a local meeting, I said that I would join with him in the admiration